Apocalypse Now: The Lion Roars
“The Throne of God”
Revelation 4:1-11
Wayne Shelton

The churches of Asia were small and struggling; the might of Rome seemed invincible. What could a few defenseless Christians do if an imperial edict were to banish them from the face of the earth? Already the powers of darkness seemed to be closing in upon them. Yet they need have no fear, for at the center of the universe stands a throne. ‘From it the wheeling planets receive their orders. To it gigantic galaxies give their allegiance. In it the tiniest living organism finds its life.’ Everything John saw in his vision was related to this throne, the throne of God. And in that throne, the early church was strengthened.
